and the authorization of care access to appropriate staff. Staff will identify themselves by name, title, and organization name when initiating or returning calls regarding UM issues. Staff is available

AVMEN has strict policies for Associates involved at all levels of the authorization process. Utilization Management decision-making is based on appropriateness of care and service, as well as Member benefit coverage. AVMEN does not reward physicians or other individuals for issuing denials of coverage or care. AVMEN does not provide financial incentives to Utilization Management decision-makers for any type of utilization determinations resulting in barriers to care, service or under-utilization.

AVMEN requires all Associates responsible for Utilization Management decisions to sign an AVMEN Affirmation Statement Regarding Incentives form. By signing this form, Associates affirm that they do not receive incentives or rewards from any source for any type of utilization determination for AVMEN Members.

MEDICAL RECORD Requirements

In keeping with NCQA, national and state standards, AVMEN requires Members’ medical records be maintained in a current, detailed and organized manner for effective and confidential patient care and quality review.

AVMEN has established medical record standards to make communication, coordination and continuity of care easier, and to promote efficient and effective treatment. The standards are available as a reference for all practitioners on AVMEN’s website at AVMEN.org. Hard copies are available upon request.

AVMEN’s medical record standards ensure that Network Practitioners comply with standards. Policies and procedures address the following information:

- Confidentiality of medical records
- Medical record documentation standards
- An organized medical record-keeping system and standards for the availability of medical records
- Performance goals to assess the quality of medical record keeping

AVMEN’s established policies and procedures for primary care medical records involve the following:

- All services provided directly by a practitioner who provides primary care services
- All ancillary services and diagnostic tests ordered by a practitioner
- All diagnostic and therapeutic services for which a Member was referred by a practitioner

Confidentiality of Medical Records

Physicians’ offices and practice sites should have established confidentiality policies and procedures for patients’ records and the release of records in accordance with HIPAA standards and practices. In general, the following standards and practices apply:

- Notifying patients of their privacy rights and how their information can be used
- Adopting and implementing privacy procedures for the practice
- Ensuring medical records are organized and stored securely granting access to authorized personnel only
- Providing periodic training for staff in Member information confidentiality

Organized medical record-keeping systems for availability of medical records:

- Each medical record must have HIPAA-compliant Member identification
- Medical records must be organized and stored in a secure manner allowing easy, prompt and efficient retrieval and granting access to authorized personnel only. AVMEN assesses the quality of medical record keeping with established performance goals.

AVMEN has established performance goals to assess the quality of medical record keeping. Documentation standards are assessed from samples of medical records, which may be utilized for HEDIS® studies, Abulatory Medical Record Reviews (AMMRs) or other audits. Practitioners are scored on the elements noted above.

AVMEN has implemented a method to improve medical record-keeping. A practitioner with identified deficiencies in medical record-keeping will be sent a request for a corrective action plan to improve their medical record-keeping practices. You can ask for tools and aids to assist in the medical record-keeping process. AVMEN appreciates your collaboration in our efforts to obtain an excellent NCQA accreditation for our medical record standards.

AVMEN conducts an annual audit of Primary Care Physicians’ (PCPs) medical records to fulfill federal and state requirements and to identify any areas for improvement.

In 2014, the average score of all medical records audited by AVMEN was 98.7 percent, which exceeded the minimum criteria of 90 percent.

Standards on the Ambulatory Medical Record Review (AMRR) are derived from AVMEN’s policies on Medical Record Documentation Guidelines. These have been established from generally accepted standards required from various regulatory and accreditation agencies such as the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA). To view these standards, visit AVMEN.org/Providers.
